The driver's education classes currently offered at Beckman during the fall and spring semesters and during the summer sessions are provided by Northeast Iowa Community College (NICC). Students also have the option of taking driver's education through a private instructor if one is available in their area. Since the driver's education courses are offered through NICC, Beckman High School will not offer credit for the course. The course will not appear on the official transcript. The course will, however, count towards a student's required six-class load.
